HACKNEY SINGERS

SATURDAY
8 NOVEMBER 2008

This delightful mass is neither small nor solemn. Written thirty years after Rossini completed a glittering career in opera, it is playful and dramatic, and is scored for piano and harmonium, a choice suited to its conception as a chamber work.

CONDUCTOR
MARK SHANAHAN

Mark regularly conducts at the ENO, Northern Opera and La Fenice. This year he has conducted Così fan tutte in Nantes and Angers, and La Traviata in Enschede.

HACKNEY SINGERS

A community choir of over 100, which regularly gives powerful and moving musical performances.
